

Arizona State University
College of Design

Department of Interior Design

MINOR and BIS CONCENTRATION AREA in INTERIOR DESIGN HISTORY

The minor/BIS Concentration Area in interior design history is available to students interested in design and culture. The designated courses are part of the professional studies in interior design within the Department of Interior Design. Moreover, the courses serve to inform the students about the importance of the global community, especially socio-cultural groups, and the impact of the global community of the design of the interior environment.

Required Courses	Title	Cr. Hrs.
DSC 101	Design Awareness (F, S)	3
INT 111	Interior Design Issues and Theories (F)	3
INT 310	History of Interior Design I (F)	3
INT 311	History of Interior Design II (S)	3
INT 412	History of Decorative Arts in Interiors (F)	3
INT 413	History of Textiles in Interior Design (S)	3

Classes

These eighteen (18) credit hours are the minimum requirement needed for the minor/BIS Concentration Area, of which twelve (12) credit hours are upper division. Any transfer courses used as substitutes for the upper division courses must be upper division courses; comparable courses taken at the community college may satisfy the course requirement in the minor/BIS Concentration Area, but additional related upper division courses may be required to meet the 12 credit hour minimum for upper division credits; see an advisor for acceptable course substitutes. These courses are sequential and carry pre-requisites in order to support the students understanding of the subject matter; consult the general catalog for pre-requisites.

Eligibility

The minor/BIS Concentration Area is open to all students. In order to pursue and complete the minor/BIS Concentration area in Interior Design History, students must have a 2.50 cum GPA.